What's Coming Up?

March 2022

Spring is here and things are beginning to bloom and pop up out of the ground. After a long, wet winter, new shoots are coming up— and so are the walls on our assisted living and memory care homes! After successfully pouring concrete for the footings and floors in February and early March, we now see framed walls rising!

We are also preparing for our annual fundraising event, Taking Flight, presented by Korsmo Construction. This theme expresses the many ways in which the mission of the Mustard Seed Project is taking off by bringing supportive senior housing to the Key Peninsula. Watch this space - there will be more information soon about the event!

Of course, it is your support and that of the KP community that's gotten us this far - and for that we say thank you!

With spring's arrival, we are also re-opening for classes, drop-in visitors and preparing for activity hours at the Crandall Center. Please see below for details on what's ahead.

Thank you to everyone who submitted ideas for names for our assisted living and memory homes now under construction. We've received many suggestions from across the community and will now go to work to make a selection which we'll announce in April.

Following a name selection, Concepts in Community Living (www.ccliving.com) will begin to actively market and sign up residents for assisted living and memory care studio apartments. Please stay tuned to these newsletters and our Facebook page for more information as we have it. In the meantime, if you or someone you know is interested in being a future resident, please call our office to add your/their name to our assisted living interest list.

Happy gardening to you!
